NOT A CENT TO BE ADDED TO COAL PRICE, NO MATTER WHAT INCREASE MINERS MAY SECURE

Fuel Administrator Declares Operators and Workers May Compromise on Whatever Basis They Desire, So Long as Prices Are Not Boosted, Says 14 Per Cent Was Considered All They Could Pay.

WILL NOT REcede FROM HIS ORIGINAL STAND

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Not one cent can be added to the price of coal to finance any increase in the wages of miners, Fuel Administrator Garfield declared today after reading press dispatches that Governor Cox of Ohio has proposed that miners and operators in that state compromise on the basis of a 25 per cent advance in pay for the men. Dr. Garfield indicated that the government would intercede no objection if the increase could be given without advancing coal prices.

"There will be no increase in the present price of coal as fixed under the Lever act," Dr. Garfield said, "no matter what arrangements and agreements are put into effect."

He added that his position was absolutely unchangeable from that taken on November 26 with the authorization of the Cabinet. Dr. Garfield explained then, in suggesting the 14 per cent advance, which the miners promptly rejected, that he was not fixing wage scales and had no authority to do so. He indicated that the increase suggested was merely that which the operators were able to grant without advancing the price of coal which the government has fixed.

COKE CURTAILMENT BEGINS MONDAY; TEAM TRACKERS GET 75 CENTS A TON ADDITIONAL Small Operators Can Resume Now and Work at a Profit, They Say.

Curtailment of coke in the Connellsville region, mention of which was made in The Courier, Wednesday, will begin Monday. The reduction is to be expected by the team-track leaders, making the maximum charge of 75 cents per ton additional.

Simultaneously with the promulgation of the curtailment order it became known that the Fuel Administration has consented to an additional charge of 75 cents per ton by the team-track leaders, making the maximum charge of 75 cents per ton additional. The Pennsylvania coal association, the Pennsylvania Coal Company, has adopted the rule of collecting 53¢ per ton on coal diverted in West, the shortage caused by the miners' strike. If such be the case the company is holding the money as none have found it way to the shippers, it was said. Another story is that the company is collecting from the consigned in whom a shipment is diverted the cost of transportation.

DECLARES MINES NOW RUNNING MUST CLOSE UNLESS PAID FOR COAL

Plans Now Furnishing Nation's Supply Not Getting Proceeds of Sales.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—All bituminous coal mines now in operation must close within a week unless the Railroad Administration pays for the coal it has confiscated or diverted, said a statement today by the American Wholesale Coal Association.

The association said the Railroad Administration had refused to pay for the coal until a price it considered fair had been fixed by Fuel Administrator Garfield, and that Dr. Garfield had refused to change his price ruling.

Mines which will be affected, the statement said, are producing now 4,500,000 tons of coal, the sole supply for the nation, the present crisis.

FARRELL MILLS CLOSE, NO FUEL AVAILABLE

SHARON, PA., Dec. 6.—Thirty-one oil mills of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company at Farrell, were closed down this morning as a result of a shortage of bituminous coal. More than 1,200 men were temporarily thrown out of employment.

RIGHT TO STRIKE NOT AN ABSOLUTE ONE

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Dec. 6.—Notice was served on miners and operators here today by Governor Roberts that all the resources of the state in men and money would be used to produce coal unless the strike was ended speedily. The owner of a coke production plant to be controlled has already reacted against the market, and some blast furnaces are said to be offering some fancy prices for their coke supply to make up the difference in the curtailment of contract deliveries.

The Robinson Coal company, which with several others, filed protest with the Railroad and Fuel Administrations against failure to make provision for payment for coal shipped by those companies and diverted by the Railroad administration, received yesterday telegrams from the two administrative offices in Washington saying the matter had been referred to those in touch with the situation.

The telegram from the Fuel Administrator, signed by Assistant Fuel Administrator Garney, read:

CONVICTED, MRS. GALLO PROCEEDS AGAINST INMATES

Woman Found Guilty of Conducting Bawdy House, Has Witnesses Arrested.

The crusade of citizens residing in the vicinity of Marietta row, east of the Connellsville city limits, against a bawdy house alleged to have been operated by Mrs. Lillian Gallo, alias Lillian Banks, brought results when the woman was found guilty in Uniontown this afternoon on two counts.

Her defense was that she did not know what was going on among the girls at the place and whom she styled "friends."

An unusual turn in the case was the filing of informations by the Gallo woman before a Uniontown alderman against three alleged inmates of the place, Ruth Painter, Anna Stokes and William Paisley, who were witnesses in the case.

Painter, woman and Paisley were arrested, but the Stokes woman got away and officers were searching for her this afternoon.

Ruth Painter and Aileen Stokes, both of whom testified they were married, yesterday told of their purpose in staying at the Danks house and of the arrangement they had with her for paying for their rooms. Their testimony was introduced despite the most strenuous objections by counsel for the defense who would not permit the women to testify until Judge Work had instructed them that they need not give "incriminating testimony unless they wished." After they had testified defense counsel protested that the two women be held to answer to the grand jury for moral crimes.

An exciting incident in the afternoon hearing of the case was the collapse of Helen Bodine, one of the witnesses who lived next door in the double house in question. When the girl was called as a Commonwealth witness, she gave the impression of suffering under some intense nervous strain and either made unintelligible answers to questions or repeated her name. She was excused and left the courtroom, a few minutes later. Just outside the door, she collapsed with a loud shriek and was carried into the court room and was taken into the controller's office where she was remanded and then taken to the women's retiring room.

William Paisley, aged 24, and single, testified that he was a frequent visitor at the Danks house for a period of three weeks before it was raided. He was one of the men deputized at the time of the shooting and testified of the events of the evening. He was also required to go into detail of his actions while at the Danks house on his various visits.

The house involved in the case is situated along the Mount Pleasant road in Connellsville township a short distance from the city line. Several witnesses testified of its unsavory reputation without discriminating between the two ends of the double house. Della Carson, who lived in the Bodine end of the house and testified of seeing many men go into the Danks house and said she had been in several times herself, but denied any wrongdoing.

She was counted 30 men going into the house one Sunday afternoon while sitting on his front porch a short distance from the same street, was told by a nearby resident. He said the place had frequent visitors "at all hours of the day and night." Cross examination brought out that he did not know how many of the 30 men went into the Danks end of the house.

Paul McDonald, another nearby resident, testified of many scenes in the extreme which he saw in the Danks house. The blinds were not drawn on frequent occasions, he said.

Miners which will be affected, the statement said, are producing now 4,500,000 tons of coal, the sole supply for the nation, the present crisis.

H. S. STUDENT KILLED

William Siekiet, Uniontown, Found Along Road By His Sister.

William Siekiet, 18 years old, member of the senior class of the Uniontown high school, was accidentally killed while hunting this morning near his home. It is believed he was leaning on the gun when it was discharged, the charge striking him in the shoulder and severing an artery.

Litigants in divorce were filed in Uniontown today as follows: Charles C. Hartman, Connellsville and Smithfield, against Grace Hartman, attorney; Henrietta Onowici, against Joe Onowici, Alicia, Cleary; Ray Cooley against Hester, Cleary, Fairchance, adultery and cruel treatment.

Robert Denker of Fairchance, who was injured Thursday morning when his car was struck and completely demolished by a West Penn street car, is said to be in a serious condition. Mr. Denker is pit boss for the Clark Coal company.

BULK OF NEWCOMER PROPERTY DIVIDED INTO FOUR SHARES

Local Physician Makes Bequests of About $100,000 and Provides Remainder.

After bequests ranging from $6,000 down to $500 and aggregating approximately $100,000 have been made in the will of the late Dr. G. W. Newcomer, a complete copy of which has been received by the Courier, through the courtesy of the executor, Attorney H. George May, the residue is disposed of as follows, quoting the words of the deceased physician:

"The residue of my estate is to be divided into four parts or shares."

"One share is to be divided equally between my brother, J. C. Newcomer, his wife, his daughters, Hazel, Elizabeth, Gladys and Josephine, and John B. McIntyre."

"One share is to be divided between my brother, A. G. Newcomer, his daughters, Lou, Elizabeth, Ella, Mary, Nannie, Lois and George W. Newcomer, their heirs and assigns."

"One share is to be divided equally between my sister, Mrs. Ella Stahl, her daughter, Jessie, Miss Margaret Tambill, my nieces, Mrs. Sally Allen, Mrs. Core May Baker and George H. McFerry. Should any of the legatees of this share die before said share is divided it shall be distributed among the remaining members of this third share."

"One share is to be equally divided between my brother, H. E. Nascom, his wife, Georgia, his daughter, my deceased brother Stewart's daughters, Jessie and Margaret, his son, Stewart Newcomer. One part of this last share is to go to the Home Missions of the Christian church and one share to Rev. William Cunningham, missionary to Japan."

The above contained in the original will was dated December 24, 1919. By a codicil dated December 3, 1919, that clause relating to the share of Mrs. Ella Stahl, a sister, and others is revoked and the following is substituted:

"One share is to be equally divided among my sister, Mrs. Ella Stahl, her daughter, Jessie, Miss Margaret Tambill and my nieces, Mrs. Sally Allen and Mrs. Core May Baker. Should any of the legatees of this share die before the said share is divided it shall be distributed among the remaining members of this third share."

The codicil clause covering the third share differs from the original in that the name of George H. McFerry is eliminated.

The entire estate has been estimated to be worth $250,000 to $300,000, which would leave $180,000 to $200,000 to be divided among the residuary legatees.

The will first written in long hand by the deceased, is of unusual length, covering 16 typewritten pages. In addition to other interesting features it contains near the close this unique clause:

"Any one attempting to break this will and testament shall be deprived of his legacy. The within will and testament have been written by me without deviation from any one and I pray God that whomever may be swinging the throttle of fortune, nevertheless, that the name of George H. McFerry is eliminated."

AMERICAN LEGION HELPING REMOVE "WORK SLACKERS"

Veterans Who Don't Want
Jobs Very Bad Being Con-

Eliminating the "work slacker" is the new job which the American Legion has taken upon itself, acting in conjunction with the War Department's chain of employment bureaus throughout the country. This type of ex-service man, while not numerous, is occasionally a serious detriment to the work of placing ex-soldiers and sailors in satisfactory jobs. Their attitude of shiftlessness after getting the place causes dissatisfaction among employers who are really trying to help, and gives a black eye to other service men who still need work.

Practically all the posts of the Legion now have employment committees. In some cases these committees have taken over all the task of finding jobs for their fellow service men. In other localities they cooperate with the War Department. In Bridgeport, Conn., where the work slacker has been a serious evil, the Legion keeps a special file of such cases of repeating in jobs. As a rule heart-to-heart talk from a comrade in arms has been enough. In other cases a refractory man has been denied the services of the employment office altogether.

In Detroit the Legion works also with the police. Where an ex-soldier in uniform is taken up for some minor offense, like beggary or peddling, a probationary system has been adopted. Instead of sending these men to jail, the authorities have consented to put them on probation with the American Legion. This practice has had a very salutary effect, and Detroit's problem of putting to work every returned fighting man is no longer so serious.

In practically all states, the employment committees of the Legion now make a canvas of all the employers. Wherever jobs are offered returned soldiers, the employers are told that the Legion expects to keep in touch with the men in places in order to see that they give satisfactory service. If this is not forthcoming, the Legion gives such men short shrift. On the other hand, the deserving ex-service man who needs employment will have his case persisted in until he is placed. Work slackers have to appear before a committee of their comrades.

In many places local chambers of commerce or associations of manufacturers have agreed with the Legion to have a job for every home-coming soldier and sailor.

In commenting upon the nation-wide cooperation of the American Legion, Major General William G. Baan, assistant chief of staff, in charge of the War Department's reemployment program, says:

"Today the American Legion has become an aggressive factor in getting jobs for our fighting men. They are extending the scope of their work so very rapidly that now this influence is felt in every state in the Union. While the original plan was for the members to cooperate in employment work, in many communities it has been necessary for them to take over the entire burden, because of the withdrawal of other agencies from the field. In every case they are meeting with the greatest success, and eventually the Legion will be the great standby of the soldier who needs assistance of any kind."

"If anyone still has any doubt in his mind as to the present attitude of the mass of discharged soldiers, I would advise him to go to any post meeting of the American Legion and say something against the government, advocating bohemianism, anarchy or any other form of destruction. He will then find that the ex-service man has not yet forgotten the art of fighting."

SATURDAY EVENING, DEC. 6, 1919.

SLOWING DOWN PRODUCTION IS DANGEROUS!

The adoption of more drastic fuel restrictions than were necessary during war time is a more hazardous experiment now than then, while it is the saddest of all the communistic control of industries and utilities.

At a time when no need is greater than that production in every line be increased to the limit of the capacity of the producing agencies, there is a curtailment and disorganization of industry which has within its possibilities of infinite harm and danger.

The cutting down of train service, restrictions upon the use of electric light and power and other measures that official Washington regards as necessary to meet a situation which has resulted from its own inaptitude in dealing with the coal strike, tend directly to stop the progress that was being made toward a return to normal in business and industry.

But all the expedients that are to be tried of reducing the volume of coke production will end still more to add to the perplexity of the conditions. Lessened output of coke means that pig iron production must be curtailed proportionately, then in turn steel and all its finished products and all the varied industries in which these are used in multitudinous forms. Each step in the cycle means fewer men engaged in gainful employment, diminished production and earnings and increased costs. But these are not all the evils which threaten to follow a slackening of industry at this time.

When no war is waging and when the world is literally starving for goods, we should produce and ship, says the Philadelphia Ledger. "That we should have production is simply appalling, especially when the political and social dangers of industrial stagnation are so notorious and so near. Yet it seems to be the only solution offered by the government for the coal strike. We are invited to grin and bear it, and so the strikers out innocent people may die while bearing it, even if they do not 'grin.' This policy of deliberate industrial lock-out for nonessential industries may feed the flames of the Red propaganda as precisely as its leaders would like. The hand which Europe, balancing between recovery and revolution, waits to have held out to it may be withdrawn."

But this suicidal solution in the sole offering which 'genius' for government which the superior intelligence at Washington possesses as a monopoly, has as yet presented to a stampeded, exasperated and gravely apprehensive people.

The people will not long be patient with the conditions which the embargo on industry will swiftly bring about. They do not realize the project of men trying to work out the falling off in production and the inevitable rise in prices. But most of all they dread the enlargement of the terrible fields for the propagation of dangerous discontent.

There is a steadily growing feeling that the Administration must give the nation something better in the way of leadership out of the present crisis. Something that will remove the difficulties at present in the way rather than multiply them through attempting to compel miners to work by an edict of the courts and inspiring them to a more stiff-necked stubbornness through such utterances of the President as that "the right of individuals to strike is inviolate."

There must be a settlement of the coal strike that will result in the mining of coal in such quantities as will adequately meet the needs of the nation, prevent industrial paralysis and contribute to allaying unrest. To slow down production is dangerous; to lessen it still further will be disastrous.

CONNELLSVILLE'S NEW DISTINC-

TION.

Connellsville stands in a fair way of attaining a distinction which will permanently link its name with a new and notable day.

By an amendment in the House by Representative S. A. Kendall of a resolution setting November 21 aside as a day for the annual nation-wide commemoration of the services and sacrifices of American young men in the World War, a movement started in Connellsville has been made to progress toward compilation. It was here that the idea of making Armistice Day a holiday originated. When the delegates of the Milton LaFayette Bishop post of The American Legion went to the first state convention at Harrisburg they were prepared to urge that body to take action upon the suggestion. This was readily accomplished, the sentiment of the moment being heartily in favor of the resolution offered by the Connellsville delegates.

Later the matter was brought to the attention of Representative Kendall and at the opening of the present session of Congress he introduced a resolution which is reasonably certain to be adopted. Not only does it give expression to the wishes of all members of The American Legion, as individuals and as an organization, but also of the great body of American citizens. The public feels the national legislature will not lack in appreciation of the magnificent service rendered by our young men in the cause of human freedom but will recognize it in a form that can be perpetuated by the coming generations.

Decoration Day was specifically set aside by Congress for the men who won the Civil War. So long as we exist as a nation the day will be observed in reverent memory of the Boys in Blue. Similarly the Boys in Khaki who helped in the World War are entitled to equal honor. A grateful nation will be glad that it be given Connellsville and the 23rd Congressional District will be proud to have suggested the form this honor shall take and no less proud that our representative in Congress will be the instrument through which it will be given force and effect.

There was a strange coincidence in the fact that Alexander Berkman, who attempted to assassinate H. G. Frick, was taken to Ellis Island for deportation on the day his intended victim was laid to rest. But this fact is of little interest to the country than will be the instrument through which it will be given force and effect.

Postmaster General Burleson's annual report confirms his belief in slow serving and small profits.

Nothing being immune from the high cost fever it was to be expected the census enumerators would be allowed greater compensation than 10 years ago.

The Railroad Administration seems to forget that the administration does not have the national treasury to draw upon in order to keep their plants in operation and to meet their payrolls.

Take the Less Out of Restless.

The trouble with so many of the restless elements in the population is that they want to rest more.

Gary's Tribute

To H. C. Frick

"In the financial and industrial world Henry Clay Frick was a conspicuous figure. His natural ability, wide experience, unfailing courage and fixed determination were universally recognized and placed him in a position of high standing and great influence among the businessmen of this country and elsewhere. While still a young man without fortune and little assistance from others, he entered the domain of business activity and as the result of energy, perseverance and integrity of purpose, he succeeded, prospered and became wealthy.

He was unusually generous in his benefactions, contributing hundreds of thousands and even millions for the benefit of mankind, although his liberality was but little known. He disliked publicity and abhorred ostentation.

He was a student and lover of art and by the use of patience and thought and large sums of money he formed one of the finest private collections of paintings, statuary, bronze, porcelain, enamels, furniture and other objects of art in existence, all of which under the provisions of his testament will in due time be permanently passed over to the public use and enjoyment together with his costly home in New York adequately endowed.

"Not intending to intrude within the confides of personal relations, it is believed permissible to say to our patient characteristic. Mr. Frick seemed perfectly happy and contented when he was surrounded by his small grandchildren, of whom there were four.

"Mr. Frick has taken a leading part in the affairs of the United States Steel Corporation during the last 17 years. Keen of perception, sound of judgment, expert in management, his voice was potent. He talked little but he said much. All his associates on the finance committee for whom I am making this statement, entertained toward Mr. Frick sentiments of respect, admiration and affectionate regard."

THE REASON MUNY FAILS.

I used to wonder why it was so few were at the top.

Why some men get so far ahead while the others stop.

But that was the olden days when I was but a lad.

I understand it now because experience I've had.

I got into an cigar store to spend my hard-earned p't.

The man who oversaw the little place was standing there silent.

But he was taking politics or something with a friend.

And hadn't time to take the cash which I had come to spend.

I fumbled with my pocketbook, I tried to catch him eye.

I tried a dozen ways or more to show him what I wanted.

At last I asked him kindly if he cared to wait on me.

And found how truly insolent a foolish man can be.

I don't know any more, why few men reach the top.

We have found the answer many times in many a store and shop.

A lot of men start out in life with hope and prospects bright.

But just a few discover that it pays to plan.

WEEKEND BATCH OF ITEMS FROM OLD DUNBAR TOWN

Special to The Courier.

DUNBAR, Dec. 5.—Taking advantage of the fact, that, owing to the township's being now an independent district, the township school will run until the Friday before Christmas, the teachers and pupils of Ferguson school are making elaborate preparations to put on a "Mother Goose" cantata to be given in the school house Friday afternoon, December 19, and in addition to the cantata, which will be one of, if not the finest ever given by a township public school, there will be a regular Christmas program, including fine music, recitations, readings, solos, etc., and a Christmas tree with wealth in every room. Rehearsals, under the direction of Miss Jessie Martin, teacher of room No. 2, are being held three evenings of each week, and considerable proficiency is already being shown, enough so, in fact, to be sure in promising an afternoon's entertainment worth witnessing. The scholars are all deeply interested, and aside from preparing their selections and parts, are making handsome decorations, for adding to the cheer and glee of the entire building. That there will be a large attendance of patrons and others interested, there is no doubt, and it is a safe prediction that none will go away dissatisfied.

Dunbar is preparing to enjoy Christmas in a much more pronounced manner than ever before in spite of the fact that Christmas goods are more expensive than for many years. The people just feel that they must celebrate this year in a fashion befitting their pleasure at peace conditions. In keeping with this spirit are the decorations and goods in the several stores. The people are buying liberally here and hundreds are going to Connellsville where the most discriminating buyer can be satisfied. With the cheapest candy 40 cents a pound, and the best up to the two dollar mark, there is no disposition to limit the children in the supply thereof, while the fancy boxes, helotz ordered by the young men, indicate that the young ladies will have no cause to complain. In addition to the regular purchases, the several Sunday schools will give liberal treats and entertainments, and the collections at these entertainments will be donated to help the cause of missions, foreign and local. Then, again, it is going to be a gay Christmas—the first the town has ever enjoyed—and that will add to the honor of the community.

CARPENTIER WINS

Frenchman Puts Beckett, English Champ, to Sleep In One Round.

By Associated Press.

HOLBORN STADIUM, RINGSIDE, LONDON, Dec. 4.—Georges Carpentier, the French champion, knocked out Joe Beckett, champion of England, tonight, in a brief and decidedly one-sided fight, for the heavyweight championship of Europe.

Seventy-four seconds, as announced by the official timer, sufficed to decide whether Carpenter or Beckett should meet Jack Dempsey, the American heavyweight, for the championship of the world in June next. From the moment the referee, B. J. Angle, called time, Carpenter had the bout entirely in his own hands.

Beckett never had a chance of hitting the agile

Frenchman, who landed blows with enormous strength whenever he felt inclined.

Amid absolute stillness, most of the spectators could hear the terrific crack of the swing that put Beckett to sleep.

There was a roar of cheering as Carpenter assisted Beckett to his corner, where the Englishman opened his astonished eyes and saw his opponent being carried on the shoulders of some of the enthusiasts around the ring, and the Frenchman was smiling happily.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

HAIR GROWN ON MR. BRITAIN'S BALD HEAD BY INDIANS' MYSTERIOUS HAIR GROWER

My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The rest was hair, but it was thin and sparse, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth.

Now, at my age over 60, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair. No trace of baldness. The picture shows

Photo when bald. Many men and women, like me, have reported amazing results with this product.

That is the secret of hair growth.

At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists, etc., I came across in my travels, a small Indian woman who said she had a secret of hair growth.

Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial.

It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and I am now my own hairdresser.

Obviously, the hair roots had not been deadened in the scalp, awaiting the fortifying potency of the mysterious powder.

I negotiated for and came into possession of the powder, and had it sent to New York, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That is why my hair growth was permanent. It has been applied, and that is the secret of hair growth.

SOME FARMERS MAKE DELIVERIES DIRECT TO CONSUMERS BY USING MOTOR TRUCKS

Motor Truck Heavily Loaded With Farm Produce.

Peddling farm produce from "side door Fullmans" is a market outlet which some producers have followed, as, by accompanying a car of their produce on the road and selling directly from the car door to dealers and consumers in a number of small towns, they realize remunerative return from their marketing operations. In most of the places where this method of "car peddling" is practiced the producers take out a license from the authorities which gives them temporary selling privileges; such licenses costing from $10 to $25 apiece. This system of self-service salesmanship is applicable only to regions where the growers have no co-operative association. It would be extremely unwise for the individuals producing to go to the road in active competition with an extensive selling organization.

Cut in Prints.

The growers also must bear in mind the fact, although the returns from this method of selling at first may appear large, they will be cut down to a great extent by his expenses, the time consumed, and the consequent neglect of his regular business. This practice may result also in lowering wholesale prices, inasmuch as the grower may be anxious to get away and sell at figures which the regular dealers would not accept. Car peddling is

G. A. R. PRESENTS TWO MAPLE TREES TO CITY SCHOOLS

and "The Star Spangled Banner." Rev. Showers closed the service.

During his address Mr. Wilson, who is the "Quiet Observer" of the Pittsburgh "Gazette Times" called attention to the good work that could be accomplished in the proper training of both boys and girls through the scout movement. Mr. Wilson is chief of the Boy Scouts of Allegheny county and is keenly interested in the work. He is also a veteran of the Civil War and related many interesting incidents of army life, applying them as lessons to the children.

The trees had been planted previously to the exercises. One stands at the right, the other to the left of the Pittsburg street entrance to the library. On account of the inclement weather the exercises were transferred from the lawn to the library hall. Only a few citizens of the city were present, the body of the audience being made up of children. It was explained that many came to the lawn and, finding nothing going on there, left.

In presenting the trees, Captain Dunn said:

"The planting of a tree, with the thought of keeping alive the historical and tragical events of our country, weaving around it a sentiment of loyalty and patriotism, is somewhat out of the ordinary. The purpose is to keep before us a growing objective that shall reach us the value and cost of the blessings of our free country, the blessings of liberty and independence—a land where all have equal advantages to become a good and useful citizen; a free education for the rich and poor alike, to keep ever before us the fact that these blessings do not come to us by natural growth or by accident or chance, but have been purchased by a very great sacrifice of blood and treasure; that you may not forget the history of our Washington and his co-patriots at Lexington, Trenton, Valley Forge and lastly, at Yorktown, when England was forced to withdraw from this country and leave our ancestors to establish a country of freemen, a country of the people, by the people and for the people." We must not forget they gave us the flag we cherish and love today.

"Nor should we forget the great sacrifice the best American lives, that this country gave to perpetuate forever this free America. We would not have you forget the history of our Civil War, when treason in 12 of our states flamed her flag and for four long years, sought to withdraw from our Union, by war, the most intense the world had ever seen. We would not have you forget Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Shiloh, Lookout Mountain and last, Appomattox, when on a bright Sunday morning in 1865, treason's flag, a flag without beauty and without moral sentiment, was hauled down, much to the disappointment and chagrin of its adherents who had fought worthy of a better cause, while the flag of the Union floated in the morning breeze without a star dimmed or stripe erased. The Union was saved and our flag recognized as the only flag to float in America.

"If there has been any people or nation who has held the idea or dream that they would some day supplant Old Glory by planting another standard upon our soil, this idea was exploded when three million American boys crossed 3,000 miles of sea and annihilated the best trained armies of the world, "really before they had their second wind, knocking the spangles off the crowns of kings and emperors. Today those would-be world rulers are the cheapest thing on the market."

"Boys—Ours, we old soldiers of the sixties, the members of William F. Kuritz Post, 194, G. A. R., pass today these trees to your care and keeping. As their reward life grows and develops in bud, leaf and bloom, so may your life develop into good, useful, loyal American citizens."

Accepting the trees, Miss Dorothy McClaren, a member of the Senior class, said:

"I am with deep feeling that the students of the Connellsville public schools today perform the duty which has been given us. Nothing could be more pleasing to us than to be permitted to have a part in such a ceremony as this which has been planned for our own special pleasure and benefit, as a token of the keen interest our own post of the G. A. R. has in the young people of their city. We have a real appreciation of the honor bestowed upon me by a body which stands for true Americanism.

"In the days to come, when we shall turn our eyes toward these beautiful trees, we shall think of those days, long past, yet never to be forgotten, when it was first realized that our government could not endure half slave and half free and when, with one accord on all sides was raised the cry: 'The Union shall be preserved; resolved to maintain the union intact or to lay down your lives in the attempt, we know you fought manfully that the government by the people, of the people and for the people 'should not perish from this earth.'

"Today, in another hour of test and trial for America, although you have lived the better part of your lives, you are wide awake, equal to the times, and teaching to all lessons of patriotism.

"Always will your patriotism and loyalty be before our eyes. Yours was an example of true Americanism most worthy of our admiration. Your deeds of service will be an inspiration for our future so that it may be said of us, that we, too, have performed a mission of usefulness for the world.

"In behalf of the students of the Connellsville public schools, with a deep sense of gratitude for the honor I accept these trees, which for us and for the generations to come, will serve as living reminders of the loyalty and patriotism of our own glorious post of the G. A. R."

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously, are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether common disease.

He claims that the core, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostril and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of influenza, but many other kinds as well.

If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Menthollized Arsenic mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished.

The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up, and be clean and healthy.

Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it at once with this same medicine.
